EARLY HISTORY OF HONG KONG

The history of the Hong Kong community is really much longer than the history of the Colony itself. The Colony exists as an emporium for foreign trade with South China, and was founded in 1841, when the firms that had previously found a more or less insecure foothold in Macao or Canton began to migrate to the island where they could carry on their business under conditions of their own making, and under the protection of the British fleet.

It was in the early years of the 17th century that the Honourable East India Company first began to take an interest in Far Eastern trade. Japan had not then closed its ports to foreigners, and it was at Firando in Japan that the Company established its first factory; others followed at Tywan in Formosa, and then at Amoy. At that time any trade done with Southern China was done through the Portuguese merchants of Macao. The Ming Dynasty, which was then nearing the end of its long reign, was favourable to foreign trade, and an attempt was made to establish a branch of the Honourable Company at Macao. The difficulty that arose was not from the Chinese but from the merchants of Macao, who were reluctant to admit a competitor that might become too powerful. As a matter of fact the history of the Company's two centuries of trading under all sorts of restrictions, some of them distinctly undignified, showed none of the masterful diplomacy which distinguished the policy of the Board of Directors in India, and from 1625 to 1834 trade was carried on in spite of restrictions and exactions which gradually became systematised into a monopoly on the Chinese side which was as exclusive as the Company's own.

The cancellation of the Company's Charter was one of the many results of the Reform Act which threw open Parliament to the classes that were rising to power and wealth through the Industrial Revolution, represented by merchants whose interests and prejudices were all in favour of the most complete free trade procurable, and it was not long before the "interlopers," who had found means to do a considerable amount of business under the old system, began to demand a base of operations where they would not be subject to the whims of officials whose sole object was either to hamper their operation or to extract profit from them.

From the very first the island of Hong Kong, which was eventually chosen, and which had at that time not even a name, was developed on a basis of free trade and equal opportunities for all, and the tradition has lasted down to the present time.

At first the intention of the Home Government was to make the Governor of Hong Kong their representative for all purposes in the conduct of diplomacy and business with China and the Far East; but the system was found to work unsatisfactorily, and, after some thirty years, the functions of local Government were separated from those of wider policy, and an Embassy was established at Peking.

The growth of trade made it necessary to acquire a larger strip of land on the Kowloon side of the harbour, and some two square miles, including an island in the harbour called "Stonecutters," were leased in perpetuity. The island is now reserved purely for military purposes, but the added territory is to-day a busy dock area and thickly populated.

THE COLONY OF HONG KONG

Prior to 1841 there was no recognised name for the island of Hong Kong. The anchorage at Aberdeen was known to sailors as Heung Kong. The Chinese characters representing the name may be translated by "Fragrant Streams" or "Fragrant Harbour." Another possible rendering is "Heung's Harbour," the haunt of a notorious character named Heung.

Kowloon is the anglicised form of the Chinese Kau Lung (nine dragons). This name is derived from the ridge of nine hills which form a rampart along the northern side of the harbour and seem to guard the approach to China.

Hong Kong became a British Colony in 1841. In 1860 about two square miles of the mainland of Kowloon and Stonecutters' Island were leased in perpetuity. The district called the "New Territory" was leased to Great Britain in 1898 for a period of 99 years. It covers 276 square miles and include Lan Tao Island and the waters of the farther shores of Deep Bay and Mirs Bay.

A book entitled "China," published in 1847, contains a chapter with the following heading: "Hong Kong, its position, prospects, character and utter worthlessness from every point of view to England." To-day one laughs at that prophecy. However when it was written there seemed to be reason for such a gloomy forboding for the place had an unenviable reputation for rain-storms, typhoons, pirates, poisoners, malaria, dysentery, etc., and in England contempt for the new colony was expressed in the then popular song, "You may go to Hong Kong for me."

To-day this formerly despised possession is one of world's busiest ports, and for an eastern city is remarkably clean, peaceable and healthy. As one writer remarks: "Hong Kong is a splendid example of what can be accomplished energy and capital associated with the courage and restraint that go hand-in-hand with British colonisation. Ninety-six years of patient administration by 21 Governors and 11 Administrators have brought Hong Kong into the front rank of the world's commerce. This happy achievement is due in no small measure to the harmonious working of two such different peoples as the British and the Chinese."

Hong Kong owes its present status to its wonderful harbour, to the security, law and justice which are synonymous with British rule, and to the industry of the Chinese. A free port except for dues on liquor, tobacco and opium, Hong Kong does an enormous trade, and ranks among the world's foremost maritime cities. Owing to its fortunate position ships from every part of the globe bring all sorts of cargo to be transhipped here to smaller steamers and junks for China via Canton and the coastal ports. It is a huge emporium or entrepot and actually produces nothing but granite. The chief industries are the building and repairing of ships and the making of rope, cement, glass, cigarettes, cigars, matches and paper.

The best time to visit Hong Kong is during the winter months, when British conditions are enjoyed. Between March and May the weather is apt to be changeable and clammy, and from May till the end of September it is too hot and humid to be comfortable. The shade temperature ranges from 50 degree F. in January and February to 90 degree F. in the Summer months, and greater extremes are known. The average shade temperature for the year is slightly over 70 degree F. Geologically, Hong Kong cannot be declared interesting, but it holds great attractions for the botanist and the entomologist. Its scenery is superb and there are few prettier drives than the one round the island or that on the mainland from Kowloon to Tai Po or Kowloon to Castle Peak. There are also glorious rambles to be had in winter on the island and in the mainland hills.

Few places can show such a variety of games and recreations. Golf, tennis and yachting are indulged in all the year round; football and Rugby and Association), cricket and hockey are played in the Winter months; and during Summer lawn bowls, lawn tennis, baseball and perfect bathing are enjoyed. The Jockey Club hold a five-day Annual Meeting every February in addition to thirteen "Extra Meetings" throughout the year.

In Hong Kong East meets West. The latest from London, Paris and New York can be found cheek by jow! with all the alluring work of the Orient. If one wishes to travel in town one may do so by motor-car, taxi, bus, tram, rickshaw or sedan chair, while on the harbour motorboats, ferries, launches and sampans are at one's disposal.

The water is pure, the food good and plentiful and hotel and boarding-house accommodation first class. Hong Kong boasts a University, secondary and primary schools, numerous places of worship, up-to-date hospitals, modern cinema houses, and the finest golf course (at Fan-ling, in the New Territories) in the Far East.

NON-LOCAL STORM SIGNAL CODE. FOR VISUAL STORM WARNINGS.

The following ten symbols are used:—

indicating the figures

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 0

(2) The signals are hoisted at the yard-arms and at the mast head of a Storm Signal Mast and have the following significance:—

(a) 4 symbols at one yard-arm showing the position of the centre.

(b) 3 symbols at the other yard-arm, showing the direction of motion or, alternatively, certain conditions; also the accuracy with which the centre has been located, and the intensity. (Table 1).

(c) 1 symbol at the mast head showing the time at which the centre was in the position indicated (Table 2).

(3) The two upper symbols of group (a) indicate by their corresponding numbers the latitude, and the two lower symbols the longitude, of the centre of a circle (of a radius specified by the lowest symbol of group (b)) within which the centre of the typhoon or depression lies. The symbols for longitude give the tens and units only; thus 32 indicates longitude 132°.

(4) The two upper symbols of group (b) indicate the direction in which the typhoon, etc. is travelling, or alternatively, certain conditions (Table 1).

(5) The third and lowest symbol of the group (b) indicates the radius of the circle whose centre is shown by the latitude and longitude, together with the degree of intensity, or alternatively, one of four conditions which can sometimes be given in addition to the direction of motion (Table 1) and in preference to the radius and intensity signal.

(6) The only velocity signals given are "stationary or very slow", which is an alternative to the direction of motion, and "exceptionally high rate of travel" which may be given in addition to direction of motion.

In this connection the following table, extracted from the China Seas Storm Signal Code will be useful:—

Latitude (North).		Rate of travel of typhoons in the Far East (Knots).
		Before recurving					After recurving.
		Ordinary limits.		Exceptional Velocity as signalled.			Ordinary limits.		Exceptional Velocity as signalled.
		Mean.					Maximum recorded.	Mean.

50 " 55	—	—	—	—	—	12 " 37	21	26	"	49	49

(7) Caution.—The position indicated by the latitude and longitude signals does not purport to be the position of the centre of the typhoon, but merely the centre of a circle of specified radius within which the centre of the typhoon is believed to lie.

(8) The Time Signal (Table 2) indicates the time at which the position indicated. Symbol No. 9 provides for occasions when the centre has been located from observations at other than routine hours.

TABLE 2:—TIME SIGNALS.

Single Symbol at Masthead.

Day.	To-day.					Yesterday.
Code figures.	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Time of 120th meridian, E.	6 a.m.	11 a.m.	2 p.m.	5 p.m.	6 a.m.	11 a.m.	2 p.m.	5 p.m.		Position deduced from supplementary information received since last warning.

Day and night signals are displayed at the Royal Observatory, Harbour Office, Naval Headquarters and Lyemoon Barracks.

Day signals only are displayed on the premises of the Hong Kong & Kowloon Wharf and Godown Co., Ltd.; night signals only on the tower of Kowloon Railway Station, and on the premises of the Hong Kong & Whampoa Dock Co., Kowloon.

Supplementary signals are displayed at Aberdeen, Cheung Chau, Green Island, Laichikok (Standard-Vacuum Oil Co.), Sai Kung, Stanley Fort, Stanley Police Station, Tai O and Waglan. They are also hoisted on Police cruising launches and on Police launches Nos. 5 and 6.

Signals will be brought into use at additional stations when repairs have been effected.

The times of hoisting and lowering local typhoon signals will also be broadcast by ZBW on 355 m. (845 kc.), and ZEK on 470 m. (640 kc.), upon receipt.

Signal No. 1 is a cautionary or "stand by" signal, and does not necessarily imply bad weather. It is intended to give about 24 hours warning of the probable occurrence of gales in the Colony.

Signals Nos. 5 to 8 convey definite warning of expected gales from different directions. A "gale" is equivalent to a mean wind velocity of 39—46 m.p.h., but gusts may reach 60 or 70 m.p.h. These four signals are therefore of equal significance as regards wind velocity, but are for different wind directions.

Signal No. 9 will not necessarily be used if conditions warrant the hoisting of No. 10 as soon as it is evident that the gale will increase. Signal No. 10 will be accompanied by three explosive bombs fired at intervals of 10 seconds at the Harbour Office.

Signals will be lowered when danger is considered to be over.

AIR-FLIGHT Circulators

A NEW IDEA IN COOLING; Draftless cooling is at last a reality with the new WELCH ALL PLASTIC AIR-FLIGHT ELECTRIC AIR CIRCULATOR for homes, offices and hospitals. Accomplished through extensive research in aerodynamic engineering the novel principle of this cooler involves the drawing of large amounts of cool air from the lower levels of a room, and constantly redistributing it as a gently moving mass to the proper zone where cooling is most appreciated. There is no sensation of draft or direct air blast as found with the conventional fan because of the new principle of circulatory cooling. It is designed to give maximum, directed, quiet, uniform circulation of air without draft, noise or vibration.

The teardrop shaped louvres and powerful motor provide controlled even airflow at a rate of 4500 cubic feet of air per minute, silently without disturbing papers on desks or tables... Truly an ideal air circulator for homes, hospitals or offices.

Obtainable at all leading Electrician or Stores.
